General info

The high density foam mattress is a six inch thick slab of foam available in two levels of firmness for our - medium and firm. The mattress comes standard with a removable cover.

This full extra length mattress is the same width as a standard full size mattress, except it is 5 inches longer. The mattress is 54 inches wide by 80 inches long and is an excellent alternative to a queen-size mattress. It is the same length as a queen size mattress yet slightly narrower. It is perfect for taller individuals, growing teenagers and will fit in a cozy size room.

Usually, the length and width of mattresses are standard, but the thickness tends to vary.

This foam mattress is available in two levels of firmness - medium and firm. Mattress firmness refers to how soft or hard a mattress feels when you first lie on it. It is usually determined by the type of material and design of the mattress. The firmness of a mattress is rather subjective and a matter of personal choice. When we say a mattress is medium or firm, it is in comparison to other types of foam that are softer or firmer.

Usability of Foam Mattress

We recommend foam over coil mattresses for use on bunk and loft beds. Since clearance is essential on a loft or a bunk bed, you need to use a low profile, i.e., thinner mattress. Foam mattresses are usually more comfortable than coil mattresses of lower thickness. Also, there is a weight limit for bunk and loft beds. Foam mattresses are often much lighter than their coil counterparts. This mattress is composed of high density foam and is highly durable. It is ideal for frequent use by anyone. Due to the longevity of high density foam, you can use it in commercial settings such as hostels or rental suites.

High Density Foam in General

This mattress is made of Polyurethane which is a similar material to a kitchen sponge. High density refers to weight to volume ratio. Similar to dense bread, high density foam has fewer air pockets between its molecules. This is the reason why it feels more solid and is heavier. In addition, the foam does not break down over time if you compare it to low density foam.

Removable Cover

The cover of this mattress is removable. This means you can wash it and put it back on if needed. The three-way zipper on this cover makes the process of removing it much easier. The cover is made from 100 percent polyester, which makes it durable and long-lasting. It is worth mentioning that this cover is not going to act as bedding. You do need to buy fitted sheets for your mattress.

Assembly

We ship this item as one unit, so you do not need to do anything. We even put the cover on for you before we ship the mattress.

Shipping

We sometimes vacuum pack this mattress before we ship it out. In this case, you will receive a smaller version of the actual size. It may take one or two days maximum, for your foam mattress to return to its normal size after you open it.
